

Jesse Winchester's Studio

Gallery

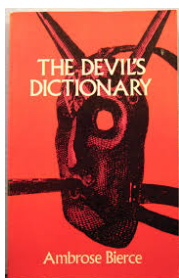

This area is the studio coffee table, or fridge door. It's brand new, so it's still pretty bare and smells like Lemon Pledge. It will gradually fill as new manias and obsessions grip the author.

Confederates in the Attic: Dispatches from the Unfinished Civil War is being passed around the studio, causing arguments wherever it goes. It's non-fiction, written by Tony Horwitz, published by Pantheon. If you want to read it and start your own arguments, you can order it from Amazon.com, or Barnes and Noble.

A couple of sites devoted to the Master, P. G. Wodehouse - The Wodehouse Society, and The Wodehouse Appreciation Page.

For those who've allowed their faith in humanity to grow to a dangerous level, who are only riding for a painful fall, I've made the studio's well-worn copy of Ambrose Bierce's Devil's Dictionary (377 kb) available.

This version is cross-referenced, great for browsing.

Alan Freeman's page. Alan provided the transcription of the lyrics. He also did the web formatting and scanned the cover photos. Thank you, Alan.

©Copyright 1998, Musique Chanteclair Inc. ASCAP